DEGRE. B 090900 04 CD 1160. The United States Auxiliary Coast Guard was formed on 1 July 1952 in response to the outbreak of the Korean War. It is a part of the Coast Guard, which is itself a part of the United States Department of Homeland Security. (Until that time, the auxiliary of the USCG had been the United States Lifesaving Service, and was a part of the Department of the Treasury.) The head office of the USCG is in Washington, D.C. The USCG serves on the high seas, coastal waters, and inland waterways and aids the Customs Service in protecting the Nation's borders. It operates a fleet of more than 1,400 vessels.[1] It is the successor to the U.S. Lifesaving Service (U.S.L.S.), established on 24 May 1883, which was formed by an act of Congress of 7 July 1870 to protect and conserve the Nation's waterways and to keep them open and free for use by vessels of commerce.[2] The USCG operates under the authority and direction of the Secretary of Homeland Security, except for those services performed by the Coast Guard of the U.S. Navy. The USCG's motto is Semper Paratus (Always Ready). The motto has been in use since 1837. Marina, Y135: . [Maps] - Y 135 * Street name/location/coordinates. 55 + 2 = . . orida due.
