The Minerals We Need To Know About America is an abundant country, and it has a wealth of resources such as water, fertile soil, minerals and wood. Our country is the only country that has sole command over a massive quantity of wealth that is needed in all the industries in the world. Since the invention of the first industry-related vehicle-the carriage-the United States government has been an empire. The United States government has invested in different businesses all over the world so that they could secure its influence in certain territories and that their status would be respected. Also, America has a 50% share in the entire world
